MISSIONARY HELD BY BANDIT UNDER THREAT OF DEATH

Peking Hears Mr. C. H. Stevens Is Now Captive In Yamen At Fenghsienfu

ANXIETY IS FELT HERE

Incident Is Close Parallel Of Kidnapping Last Year Of Doctor Shelton

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 17.—A letter from Sianfu says that Mr. Stevens is being held in a yamen belonging to Wei Ting-yi, an officer serving under Kuo, by whose order Mr. Stevens was captured. The idea is to hold the British Missionary as a hostage against an advance by the Government troops on Fengsiang and any action on the part of the Tuchun against Kuo's family. Wei threatens to kill Mr. Stevens if the Tuchun's troops advance, but it is not thought likely that he would resort to a measure that would lead to disastrous consequences to himself.

Further word from Shensi is being anxiously awaited at the China Inland Mission here concerning the fate of Mr. C. H. Stevens, British missionary, who has been held as hostage for the past two weeks by the Chinese bandit chief Kuo Chien of Fenghsienfu near the Kansu border. It is known here that the threat has been made that Mr. Stevens will be killed unless certain concessions are made by the governing powers in Shensi, but the hope is held that this threat will not be carried out and that the release of the captive will be effected.

As an outcome of representations that have been made to the Peking Government orders recently were dispatched to General Chen Shufang, Tuchun of Shensi, to make every effort to bring about Mr. Stevens' release. General Chen had stated about a week ago that he was powerless to do anything as the bandit was beyond his control. In reply to the message from Peking, however, he answered saying he would do everything in his power.

MR. STEVENS SAFE

According to information that has been received in Shanghai Mr. Stevens is being held in the city of Fenghsienfu, probably in his own residence, and therefore it is not thought that he has been suffering any physical inconvenience. That he is in real danger, though, is not doubted. After Mr. Stevens was made a captive Mrs. Stevens was permitted to leave the city and word has been received here that she now is in Sianfu, capital of the province.

One of the earlier reports concerning the case that Peking received said that Mr. Stevens was being held in a camp by the brigand leader near the Kansu border. It is not believed here that Mr. Stevens has been removed from Fenghsienfu at any time, as it is not thought that Kuo Chien would dare to venture out of his stronghold, as hostile troops are moving against him from several directions. It is pointed out that a condition that the bandit has laid down for the release of the captive is that the advance of Shensi troops on Fenghsienfu be halted.

The seizure of Mr. Stevens is a close parallel of the kidnapping a year ago in Yunnan province of Dr. A. L. Shelton by the former Yunnan bandit Yang Tien-fuh. In that case the prisoner was taken from political motives and in the present case Kuo Chien is acting to save himself from impending danger.

IS LARGE CENTER

Fenghsienfu is one of the larger Chinese cities and up to four years ago when Kuo Chien and his bands of brigands began to become active it was a commercial center of first importance as it was on the main trade route into Kansu. Kuo Chien's depredations have paralyzed commercial activity, however, and it is said that in the past year that his offenses have become so flagrant that the provincial authorities determined to capture him at all costs.

At the time that Shensi provincial troops started to move in force against him Kuo Chien is said to have found himself faced with dissention in the ranks of his followers. He became fearful of the growing popularity of Liu Fuh-tien, one of his lieutenants and according to reports, he caused Liu Fuh-tien to be assassinated when he invited the officer to a Chinese feast.

TROOPS REVOLT

Reports state that the outcome of this tragedy was a revolt of a considerable number of troops that had been under command of the slain officer. About this time the co-operation of Kansu troops in the general movement against the

Hongkong Imports Of Ten Chests Monthly Great Decrease Over 1921

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 19.—With reference to untrue reports which have been circulated by certain Chinese news agencies, enquiries by Reuter at the British Legation have elicited the following facts:

(1) The Waichiaopu has not protested to the Legation regarding the alleged British proposal to send ten chests of opium to the interior of China.

(2) The new agreement between Hongkong and India is identical with the old agreement, except that the price of opium is doubled.

(3) The statement that ten chests of Indian opium are to be imported into the interior of China is wholly untrue.

(4) It is true that Hongkong is importing ten chests of opium monthly, but this is the lowest figure yet reached, and shows a reduction of many hundreds percent as compared with 1912, since which year a steady reduction has taken place.

London, May 19.—Commenting on the letter from Sir William Collins on the subject of opium prohibition, which appeared in its columns, the Times deals with his allegation that opium is being actively cultivated in China, and says: "It is to be hoped that revolutionary China will show no less care for the interests of her population than her autocracy displayed, and that she will soon acquire sufficient authority to make that care effective."

This Family Of 15 Hollanders Added To U.S. Population

WHEN the gates swung wide on Ellis Island, N.Y., recently and let the Feyen family into the United States the population of the country was increased by fifteen. They were from Holland. No nation can beat the Dutch in this wonderful matter of human productivity. But it is well to state that the Feyen family beats even the Dutch record of big families at Ellis Island in point of youth. The oldest is only sixteen, while the youngest is eight months. Hendrik Feyen, head of the house shown at the extreme right, top row, is forty-five. Diana, his wife, just thirty-two, and radiant with health, is shown in the center holding the baby.

MANY CHANGES IN MINISTRY OF COMMUNICATION

Brother Of President Hsu Shih-chang To Remain As Vice-Minister

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 18.—The President and Premier have sent Mr. Hsia Yin-kuan, the Secretary of the Cabinet, to Tientsin to invite Mr. Li Shih-wei, the new Minister of Finance, to come to Peking as soon as possible. Mr. Li has not yet decided when he will come to the capital.

A number of changes will take place in the personnel of the Ministry of Communications. Mr. Hsu Shih-jang, brother of the President, will remain as Vice-Minister. Cheng Hung-nien, the Chief of the Railway Department, will be replaced by Mr. Sun To-yu who is an active supporter of Mr. Li Shih-wei and was mainly instrumental in putting him into the Cabinet. Mr. Yu Jun-feng, the Director of the Peking-Hankow Railway, may remain in office as General Wang Chan-yuan is his patron, but Mr. Tang Wen-kow, Director of the Peking-Mukden Railway, will be replaced. The latter's successor is not yet known, but he will probably be a member of the Mukden faction.

No decision has yet been reached with regard to the Vice-Ministries, other than that of the Ministry of Communications, but the matter is now under discussion.

Peking, May 19.—The new Cabinet met this morning. Mr. Li Shih-wei's arrival in Peking is taken to indicate that he does not desire further to persist in refusing the portfolio of Finance. It is expected that he will forthwith resign the position of president of the Sino-Japanese industrial company with which he is associated.

The Unexpurgated Diary Of A Shanghai Baby

By Elsie McCormick

MAY fifteenth—Nice day. Family excited because I said "Mama." Was really trying to say "Amah," but can't make family understand my language. Papa said that mama had better pay a little more attention to me when I begin to talk.

"What about my bridge parties?" asked mama.

"Teach the baby to score and then you can take him with you," said papa. "If he stays in the back of the house all the time, he will learn to swear in Chinese."

"Yes, and if he stays in the front of the house, he will learn to swear in English," said mama, looking at papa. Papa said that he guessed he had a right to say something when he found that houseboy had put fly-paper in bureau drawer to keep moths away from golf-socks.

MAY fifteenth—later—Sat on floor while family read paper. Auntie asked meaning of "P.P.C." which she had seen in corner of friend's card.

"I've heard that it means 'Please Postpone Chits,'" said mama.

"I've also known cases where it stood for 'Payment Permanently Cancelled,'" papa remarked.

Mama said family would have to send steamer present to friends and suggested basket of flowers. "Yes," said papa. "People in a stateroom so small that they have to sleep with their hats on because they have no place to put them always appreciate a basket of flowers. Besides, it is such a comfort when you have 31½ pieces of handluggage to have a kind friend rush up and make it 32½."

Mama remarked that she might send box of candy, only friend would not appreciate it after the first day out. "I'll look around the house and try to find something that I don't use very often and wouldn't miss much," mama said.

"Why not send them the baby?" papa inquired.

No more remarks about present.

Papa said later that maybe friends would not appreciate family coming to see them off, as many people preferred to stay inside tender until it got too far away from jetty for shroffs to jump.

MAY sixteenth—Amah bought me new black rubber thing today. Thought I was getting chow, but found out it was bluff. Disappointed to find no connection. Wonder if they think they are really fooling me. Wouldn't hold it in Hongkew Park, as didn't want Jap baby to think I was being taken in.

MAY seventeenth—Pleasant weather. Auntie said this morning that Cyrill had invited her to go to lecture on "Theory of Relativity." "Do you know what that is?" she asked mama.

"I don't know for certain, but I think it is about how to get along with your relatives," mama said.

Hope they all go. Maybe they'll learn more about getting along with me.

MAY eighteenth—Had pleasant trip to Hongkew Park. Rubber thing fell out of perambulator. Hoped I had lost it, but amah picked it up again. Flavor of Hongkew Park not as good as Public Garden. Later came home and watched amah's younger sister wash and starch mama's white kid gloves.

MAY eighteenth—later—Weather still good. Papa said he had to hurry at noon, as he and lawyer friend at club were going to look into important case that had just come up. Mama asked him if important case had just come up from cellar. Quiet tiffin.

MAY nineteenth—Bertie called this afternoon. Said he was sorry to have stayed away so long, but that he had sprained shoulder.

"Yes, I've heard she dances like that," said Auntie with ice-box expression.

Bertie pulled collar as face turned color of Jap baby's felt hat. Then asked Auntie why she went with Cyril person.

"There is nothing the matter with Cyril," said Auntie, tossing head. "He goes in the best society in Pootung."

Bertie asked Auntie what Cyril did for a living, and Auntie said she wasn't sure but thought he handled remittance department in some bank, as she had heard he was remittance man.

Bertie tried to hold Auntie with arm and Auntie said she would scream if he didn't stop. Tried to help by squalling to call family. Bertie pulled collar again and said he would have to go home. Went. Auntie said I ought to be locked up in garret. Can't understand family. Guess I'll go to sleep with wooden elephant and make-believe chow.

BREACH BETWEEN THE BRITISH AND FRENCH PREMIERS GROWS WIDER

Lloyd George Reaffirms Position Taken In Speech, And Contends U.S. And Italy Endorse His Stand On Poland—Paris Journal Sees Threat In English Statesman's Statement That "Old Or New Friendships" Will Determine Future

Britain's Position

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 18.—Mr. Lloyd George, interviewed by Reuter, adhered to his statement in the House of Commons last Friday evening on the subject of Upper Silesia, and declared that the almost unanimous approval of the American, Italian and British press showed that the great nations who stood beside France in the west meant to interpret the Treaty of Versailles fairly.

He warned the French press that the habit of treating every expression of Allied opinion which did not coincide with their own as impertinence fraught with mischief.

"The stand taken by the British, American and Italian public on the Silesian question should not be offensive to France," Mr. Lloyd George continued. "They mean to apply the terms of the Treaty of Versailles justly, whether for or against Germany. The fate of Upper Silesia must be decided by the Supreme Council and not by Korfanty. The children of the Treaty cannot be allowed to break the crockery of Europe with impunity.

"The world's course in the coming years cannot be forecasted. The mists ahead are unusually dense. Much will depend on the Allies holding together, apart from their Treaty obligations. Unforeseen events must determine the future groupings of nations, and the world's future will be determined by old or new friendships.

"The Brish Government were anxious to have the division of Silesia settled at the London Conference. All the facts of the plebiscite were known but our Allies were not ready to proceed with the discussion. We will abide faithfully by the decision of a majority of the Powers which have a voice under the Treaty in defining the Silesian boundaries.

"We fully accept the plebiscite as an expression of the wishes of the people of Silesia, but, having entered the great war and sustained gigantic losses in the defense of the old treaty to which this country was a party, Britain cannot consent to stand by whilst the Treaty her representatives signed less than two years ago is trampled upon."

The French View

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 18.—M. Briand, on being shown a summary of Mr. Lloyd George's statement, said that France also wanted to see the Treaty of Versailles carried out. But, said the Premier, the Treaty contained nothing saying that all the rich mining districts of Poland should go to the Germans, while the Poles were to get what was left.

"I do not wish to enter into a polemic with Mr. Lloyd George. I stand by what I said on Saturday," concluded M. Briand.

Paris, May 19.—The quieter tone of the French press which was mentioned in yesterday's cables has disappeared today, in view of Mr. Lloyd George's statement to Reuter's Agency, which is regarded as aggravating the effects of his speech in the House of Commons.

The correctness of his reference to foreign press opinion is disputed, the papers declaring that the whole American press, with the exception of the pro-German organs, approved the attitude taken up by M. Briand, while the Italian newspapers for the most part approved the French point of view.

The "Petit Parisien" says: "Mr. Lloyd George has deeply wounded French sentiment. France is entitled to consideration when the security of her soldiers is affected. She only wants simple justice, viz., that a country essentially Polish shall be restored to Poland."

The "Petit Journal," referring to the passage in Mr. Lloyd George's statement to the effect that "the future of the world will be determined by old or new friendships," refuses to believe that Mr. Lloyd George threatened France with a possible alliance with Germany. The paper declares that "If he forgets that 600,000 British soldiers are buried in France, the British people will not forget it."

The "Matin" declines to make Great Britain responsible for the language of her Prime Minister, and says "He is entitled not to share French opinion as regards Silesia, but he could express his views in diplomatic notes, and not in speeches."

FOREIGN POLICE RAID GAMBLING HOUSE, ARREST 64

Proprietor Argued It Was Only A Farewell Party; Equipment Seized

A gambling establishment which has the reputation of having caused several suicides within the past months, by reason of large sums of money lost by young Chinese apprentices, was effectually raided by the police yesterday morning when 64 men were arrested.

The raid on the place, which is located at 46 Si Gee Bai Ka, in the Central district, was led by Detective Sergeant J. Kilkenney, at the head of an entirely foreign raiding squad, including Sub-Inspector Wilson, Detective Sergeant Tinkler, Detective Constable Balchin and others. Immediately the doors were forced the lights in the establishment were extinguished and an electric bell sounded a warning. There was a frantic stampede, but the raiders crashed into the building from all sides and practically all of the inmates were captured. Chips, dice, notation slips, deposits of silver and notes and other gambling evidences were gathered in, as well as several opium pipes and smoking appurtenances.

The prisoners were taken to Central station, where no less than thirty odd of them were quickly succored by the bailing "guild," which deposited $25 for each man released.

The case came up in the Mixed Court yesterday and when it was called the tenant of the house gave the following explanation:

He was previously a cook, he said, but he had decided to leave the Settlement for the country. In consideration of his departure a few of his friends had dropped in. While they were there the police swooped down—and this unwarranted charge was the result.

It was shown by the police evidence that the establishment was run by the same parties who had previously operated another large-scale gambling den a few doors from the place raided, the former house being deserted because of police attention. The house surrounded last night was found to have no less than ten exits, several of them leading through the walls into adjoining brothels, and was extensively fitted up.

With this evidence before it the Court imposed a fine of $100 on the proprietor—with the alternative of a month in prison—and fines of $5 each on the gamblers arrested. All of the latter paid their fines, with the exception of three who failed to appear and thereby forfeited their bail.

New York, May 17.—The electrical influence of the aurora borealis continued last night to play havoc with telegraphic communication. The disturbance began on Friday and intensified, becoming the severest of its kind in thirty years.

Washington, May 17.—Officials of the Naval Observatory said last night that the disturbance to telegraphs caused by the aurora borealis was apparently due to a group of sun-spots estimated to be ninety-four thousand miles in length and twenty-one thousand wide. So large a group of sun-spots is unusual, they said.

Youth is a wonderful thing, involving an unfettered conception of life and other complicating details which not infrequently lead to embarrassment in these times of advanced civic regulation.

Lau Nyi-tsoo is 19 years of age. Hannibal at that age had begun to be heard from and it is probable that Don Juan had begun to give evidence of latent possibilities. Lau, however, had ostensibly arrived. The length and breadth of Foochow Loo was as familiar with his title and appearance as it was with the Tsing Lien Ko tea garden, or the Eastern Times pagoda, or the Dih Yi Dai, or any other projecting feature of that radiant row of Oriental gaiety. Lau occupied one of the most luxurious suites at the Great Eastern Hotel and the top notes of the three most soprano sing-song maidens at present in favor along the rialto quavered at his nod. Shark's fin, camel's hump, bear's paw and bird's nest soup were the only items on the menu that really carght his attention. But this is getting ahead of the story.

A few days ago Yui Yui-zung, who is the main bulge in an exchange shop at 539 Foochow Road condescended to appear at the front counter in response to repeated and imperative calls from a man who seemed prospective of profit. The customer, who declined any dealings whatever with the underlings in the establishment, told Yui that he was acting for a foreigner who wished to purchase gold dollars, in half and quarter-eagle allotments. He asked quotations. Yui quoted. The caller deliberated and then asked the loan of the shop telephone. He called a number and entered into conversation. Finally he suspended the receiver upon the hook and said that the foreigner was satisfied. Would the obliging proprietor send one of his assistants, together with 18 of the gold markers, along to the foreigner's place of business? The proprietor most emphatically would.

So the two and the dinars started off and when they had reached 10 Canton Road the guide swept an eloquent hand at the doors of the China Mutual Life Insurance office and remarked that this was the business address of the man who wanted the coin. If the assistant would entrust him with the pieces he would go inside and return immediately with the market price. The assistant turned over the dollars and started in to wait. And continued to do so until a suspicion which had begun to grow became so impelling that he went inside and scoured the corridors and made inquiries. Then, as the shades of night were collapsing, he returned to Yui at the shop, and of the session which ensued there is an eloquent absence of record.

A day or so later a man appeared at an exchange shop located at 27 Tiendong Road and asked for the proprietor, who was gratified to hear that a foreigner desired to contract for 14 five-dollar gold pieces. The contract was confirmed in convincing fashion over the shop telephone and a member of the money-changer's staff was assigned to accompany the agent to an address on Yuen Ming Yuen Road. This accompanist also did a lot of standing around the front door, followed by a return to the shop, and rhetorical fireworks.

The next day it was a shop at 261 Kiangse Road, and the five gleaming sovereigns carried therefrom faded through the back entrance of 10 Canton Road, the shop's messenger childing his heels in the alleyway for a protracted period before going back to the roasting which awaited him on Kiangse Road.

Day before yesterday a nervous individual, who afterward told the police that his name was Tsu Nyung-sung, called at an exchange stall on Fokien Road and presented a number of sovereigns and five-dollar gold pieces for translation into local tender. It so happened that the operator of this shop had been at dinner the night before with the operator of the exchange palace on Kiangse Road and was still filled with details of the latter's fleecing. While he engaged the customer in conversation he sent an underling out for a police man. At the station Tsu said that he had been given the coins to change by Lau of the bright-lit career.

A search of Lau's suite brought forth six uncashed gold coins, $50 in Mex. notes and some $80 worth of sportive raiment. Lau also was impounded, taken to the station, and later to court.

Lau told the Magistrate that he had formerly been employed by a firm on The Bund. He had got into the company of a fast travelling crowd and his expenses had soared. He got into debt and his bank account evaporated.

"If I possessed money," he told the Court, "I wouldn't even think of trying to beat exchange shops."

And as his assets still registered no visibility and his imagination seemed unimpaired the Court ordered the latter a setting of three reinforced concrete walls, with a fronting of wrought-iron grill work for the next twelve months.

London, May 18.—The Polish Consul-General at Beuthen has informed the Inter-Allied Plebiscite Commission in Upper Silesia that the insurgent leader, Korfanty, has issued a proclamation calling on the Upper Silesians to surrender their arms, resume work and avoid military contact with the Germans, and stating that 10,000 have already been demobilised.

Korfanty's executive committee has notified the Commission that the Poles cannot yield to the Germans but will withdraw before the Allied troops.

Missionary Held By Death Threat

bandit leader was brought about and it is said that when Kuo Chien saw that he was in serious danger of being hemmed in he seized Mr. Stevens, with whom he has long been on friendly terms, and issued notice that the missionary would be killed unless the hostile movement of troops against Fenghsienfu were halted.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, who are known in Shanghai, came to China in 1893 and it was about two years later that they went to Shensi and took charge of the mission station at Fenghsienfu where they have resided ever since. They were the only foreign residents in the city.

Little Hsu Again Reported In City

The rumor is again extant that Hsu Shu-cheng—"Little Hsu"—is in Shanghai. According to reports in the Chinese press, agents have been sent here from Peking to discover his exact whereabouts and it is said that he has moved from a house in Jessfield Road to a foreign hotel in the East Broadway district. The report of his presence here is officially discredited.

Empire Day Program Complete

May 24, the birthday of Queen Victoria, and now celebrated as Empire Day, will be fittingly observed in Shanghai next Tuesday.

At eight o'clock in the morning the Boy Scouts will hoist the Union Jack at the British Consulate. At the same time there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at Holy Trinity Cathedral when the special intercessions will be for King and Empire.

At 10:45 a.m. there will be a special service at the Cathedral, at which the Consul General and his staff, members of the United Services Association and probably the S.V.C. will be present. This service will not last more than a half hour.

The key note of it will be The Kingdom of God and the Kingdom of the World. Special psalms, hymns and prayers will be followed by the National Anthem, and the service will be over in good time in order that Volunteers and others will be able to fall in with time to spare for their parade at the Consulate at noon.

British members of the Shanghai Club will entertain their friends of other nationalities at a time shortly after noon. From 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., Lady Fraser will hold a garden party in the Consulate Grounds for the members of the British Women's Association. The boys of the Cathedral School will sing a number of old English songs at the Garden Party.

In the evening there will be a dinner at which members of the different branches of the Flying Corps will assemble in force, and a grand vaudeville entertainment will be given at the Lyceum Theater in honor of the Interport Cricketers from Hongkong. A fine program has been arranged and it is reported that the house has been sold out.

TSINGTAO'S FUTURE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 18.—Reuter is officially informed that prior to his departure for Japan, Mr. Obata remarked to the Government that Japan intended making representations to the Powers concerning the internationalisation of Tsingtao. If the Powers concurred, Japan would make a definite proposal to China to that effect.

The Chinese Government, however, has heard nothing of the matter since.

Plenty Of Rain Proves Cheering To Residents Of Tehchow District

(China Press Correspondence)

Nanking, May 14.—Your correspondent had just returned from work in the famine district around Tehchow, Shantung, where the American Board Mission is distributing to famine sufferers in that section. The investigators have completed their work and all that is being done now is to make distribution of grain according to the tickets that have been issued. Mr. A. D. Heininger has been in charge of the work in that locality ever since the beginning, and he and Rev. H. C. Steinheimer, of Nanking, have set up a fine piece of work. The efficient way in which the distribution is now being carried on is due to the thought and care of these two men and the corps of competent Chinese assistants that have been working with them.

Grain is being given out at six centers, where the people come once a month to receive their share of grain for the next four weeks. As there will be a splendid wheat harvest towards the end of this month, the distributions that take place from now on will be the last that are to be made. It is indeed a relief to see the good stand of wheat that is found in most of the country around Tehchow, although to the east of the city it is feared that no wheat will be gathered, on account of drought, and that may mean continuance of relief work until on into the fall when the "Kao-liang" crop can be gathered. That will be a total loss, though, unless rain falls in the immediate future. There have been good showers south and west of Tehchow, but north and east the situation is serious.

SCHOOLS REOPEN

In the district that is covered by the workers from Tehchow a large number of schools have been opened in the villages, in which local teachers give instruction to the boys of the village. These children all belong to homes that are destitute and receive their allotment of grain, 15 "catties" of grain a month, on condition that they go to school for three or six months, depending upon local conditions and upon when the school was started. The teachers receive grain according to the number of pupils in attendance. At the Tehchow compound of the American Board Mission, Miss Connolly is carrying on industrial work among the women where needlework is done and where the women have a chance to earn their living.

To a new arrival it might seem that there were few signs of famine around that district. Most of the people look well fed if not well dressed. Before coming to any decision on the matter, however, it is well to remember that grain has been distributed in that area for four months, that the poorest of the people have long ago migrated to other provinces where the conditions may, or may not, be more favorable, that, thanks to transportation facilities, many tons of grain have been brought into the country other than that of the Relief Committee, so much so that shops who previously dealt in anything but grain, now handle that commodity, and make a good thing out of it. The presence of so many independent shops in the business have prevented the forming of a trust and has, fortunately, kept the price reasonably low for famine times.

Some weeks ago the pupils of the University Higher Primary school in Nanking put on a play for the benefit of the famine sufferers and realised the sum of $76.40. This money was sent up to Tehchow and has been used to support one of the famine schools. The particular school that the Nanking boys have adopted is at Li Sh'uan Chuang, where there are three teachers and 100 pupils. Each pupil gets 15 "catties" of rice a month, while each teacher receives 142 "catties" and the money sent will keep that school going for about three months.

Fourth Of Four Cargo Vessels Built At Kiangnan Soon To Leave Ways

The steamer Cathay, fourth and last of the big cargo carriers built here at the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Works for the United States Shipping Board, will be launched on Thursday, May 26. The new vessel will be christened by Mrs. E. S. Cunningham, wife of the American Consul-General.

The four American Shipping Board boats built by the Kiangnan Dock and Engineering Works are the largest steamers ever turned out of Chinese yards. The first of the four, the Mandarin, completed its maiden voyage across the Pacific a few weeks ago and was delivered to the Shipping Board at San Francisco. The vessel shortly will be followed by the Celestial, second of the boats to be launched, and after the Celestial the Oriental, which is being fitted for sea, is to be delivered.

Hupeh Residents Denounce Tuchun

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, May 16.—Eight hundred natives of Hupeh resident in Peking met this afternoon at the Hu-kwang Guild Hall for the purpose of passing a resolution denouncing Inspector-General Wang Chan-yuan, and requesting the President to remove him from the Tuchunship of Hupeh. The metropolitan police prohibited the gathering, admonishing the irate Hupehites to use other and less demonstrative methods in opposing their Tuchun.

The crowd, prevented from meeting in the hall, proceeded to the open space in front of the Tien An Gate of the Imperial city, where they held their meeting, at which a resolution was passed to wait in a body upon the President. The entire assembly, resolving itself into a committee, went to the Hsin Hwa Gate of the Cabinet offices and waited for four hours, when a representative of the President came out and advised them that the President could not see them on Sunday, but would be willing to meet a small representative delegation of the Hupehites tomorrow.

Chinese Protest New Japanese Loan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 18.—The Japanese legation has received communications from the Educational Association at Shanghai and the Self-Government Society in Szechuen protesting against "the proposed Japanese loan to the Central Government," of which these two bodies learned from reports in the Chinese press. The legation, however, knows nothing of this alleged loan and thinks that Japanese financiers are not likely to offer fresh loans to China while interest on former loans remains unpaid.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 17.—Colonel Chi, Mongolian Aide-de-Camp, who has reached Pangkiang, reports that the Russo-Mongolian Command has despatched two forces against the Chinese front. One force, the report states, "is now active at Urlupiaotsowta temple, 300 li west of Udeh and consists of less than 100 men, while the other force is stationed at Hamarchelin temple, 200 li west of Udeh. The Prince of West Suniteh Banner has given every proof of his loyalty to our army and has appointed two officers to co-operate with Captain Ta of our army in taking measures against a possible invasion by the Russo-Mongol forces."

General Tien asks General Tso Fen to reward the loyal officers who have rendered valuable services to the Chinese troops.

Peking, May 17.—Brigadier-General Tien Hsian-chang of the 16th Division, who is commanding the troops at Pangkiang in the absence of General Tso Fen, has sent the following report to General Tso in Peking:

According to reports received from loyal Mongolian soldiers who have been sent out to attempt to discover the whereabouts of the Chinese refugees (who were reported recently to have lost their way and to be unable to find the Chinese troops), a band of about 400 Chinese refugees has arrived safely at Murkun. Chinese intelligence men have now been stationed at Urlushen temple to wait for their arrival.

DR. PAUL MARTIN SUES EX-PARTNERS, ALLEGES OLD DEBT

Files Action To Recover Tls. 1,250 Representing Indebtedness

Suit for the recovery of an aggregate of Taels 1,250, alleged to be due, was begun in the United States Court for China yesterday by Dr. Paul Martin against the firm of Drs. Ransom, Street and Massey. In this action Doctor Ransom is represented by Mr. F. J. Schuhl.

The suit follows other litigation between Dr. Martin and the defendant firm of physicians of which he formerly was a member. In the original action, in which Dr. Martin was defendant, an injunction was asked for to restrain Dr. Martin from practicing in Shanghai on the grounds that he had committed a breach of contract said to have been entered into with the firm of physicians. This suit was dismissed.

It is alleged that the sum asked for in the suit filed yesterday represents indebtedness to Dr. Martin incurred while he was a member of the firm of Ransom, Street and Massey.

JAPAN'S PRINCE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

London, May 18.—The Crown Prince of Japan, accompanied by Prince Kanin, Baron Hayashi, and his suite, today received an enthusiastic welcome on the occasion of his visit to Cambridge University. The narrow streets were packed with townsfolk, while at the various colleges thousands of students were collected to cheer him.

The Vice-Chancellor escorted His Imperial Highness to the University, where the degree of LL.D. (honoris causa) was conferred upon him.

After the ceremony, the Crown Prince lunched with the Vice-Chancellor.

The party then toured the grounds of the University and motored to Ely Cathedral.

The Crown Prince later dined with the Master and Fellows of Trinity College, after which he left by a special train for Edinburgh.

Brussels, May 18.—The Crown Prince of Japan will arrive here on June 10 on a visit to the King of the Belgians. His Imperial Highness will stop in Belgium eight days.

London, May 18.—Much interest was evinced at Whitehall in the visit of the Japanese sailors to the Cenotaph, where the men were drawn up and the Admiral advanced bareheaded, placed a wreath at the base of the memorial and saluted while the buglers sounded the last post.

The copper-plate attached to the wreath is inscribed with the words: "To the Glorious Dead. Presented by the Commander-in-Chief, Captains, Officers and men of the Japanese Third Squadron, on the occasion of their visit to England."

London, May 19.—After a splendid journey from Cambridge, the Japanese Crown Prince arrived this morning at Edinburgh, where he was accorded a very warm welcome. The weather was cloudy. As the special train steamed into the Waverley Station a royal salute was fired from Edinburgh Castle.

Replying to a cordial address of welcome from the Lord Provost and Corporation, His Imperial Highness, speaking in Japanese, said he looked forward with great satisfaction to experiencing the charms and beauty of Scotland. The Imperial party then drove through crowded streets to Lolyrood Palace, where, by the King's special permission, the Japanese flag flies from the tower.

Famine Refugees Are Sent North

A second batch of famine refugees, numbering 113, was sent north to their homes by Wednesday night's train. The refugees are mostly from Hsien Hsien, Shantung, and as their native places are over 100 li from the nearest railway station they were taken before departure to the Chapel Benevolent Institution, where the adults were each given 1,000 cash and 3 pounds of bread and the children 600 cash and 2 pounds of bread. Other contingents of refugees are to follow.

SHANGHAI YACHT CLUB WILL OPEN SEASON JUNE 5

Annual Meeting Yesterday Forecasts Active Season

The Shanghai Yacht Club will open its 1921 season on Sunday, June 5, with the opening cruise up the Whangpoo and the harbor races will be arranged as soon as the club members' boats are out of the docks from the spring overhaulings.

At yesterday's annual meeting of the yacht club there was an evidence of impatience on the part of the members to get their boats into the water and to start the summer program. Many of the boats are yet in the hands of the riggers, and other new boats cannot be ready for three weeks more.

Commodore E. T. Byrne presided at yesterday's meeting. He opened with a tribute to the memory of Mr. Duncan Glass, a life member of the club, many times commodore, who owned more boats than any other member and was a most enthusiastic yachtsman.

Regrets also were expressed over the loss of last year's rear commodore, Mr. T. H. R. Shaw, who was forced to resign by reason of his departure in February for Hongkong.

Reviewing the past season Commodore Byrne spoke of the enjoyment obtained from the racing and the cruising. He expressed the belief however, that 1921 would see as full a program and as great enjoyment as before. He believed, even, that with the increased membership, the activity of the club would be greater than it has ever been.

It is possible that the Shanghai Yacht Club will soon have a club house of its own. Commodore Byrne remarked upon the aged condition of the headquarter boat, the Foam, and the probability that it could not last more than one year more, even with careful repair. The yacht club, he said, must have a clubhouse. He was not prepared to suggest a means for procuring a clubhouse, but the members, he said, must get together and find a way. The incoming committee he promised would investigate the question thoroughly and make a report when posted on the possibilities.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the selection en bloc of the recommendations of the committee:

Mr. E. T. Byrne, commodore; Mr. T. Mellows, vice-commodore; Mr. A. J. Stewart, rear-commodore; Mr. A. J. Watson, treasurer; Messrs. F. B. Walker, C. E. Hall, A. L. Blechynden, F. C. Flack, committee; Mr. E. A. Brodie, hon. secretary; Mr. J. E. R. Harris, hon. treasurer.

LAWN BOWLS TOMORROW

The Shanghai Junior Golf Club and the Shanghai Recreation Club will compete in the lawn bowls tournament to be held tomorrow afternoon. Four rinks will be counted as official matches, while the Nos. 5 and 6 reserve rinks will be for friendly matches.

Oarsmen Finish Training; Regatta Starts Tomorrow

Practically the last touches were given last evening to the training for the regatta at Henli which starts tomorrow and the report as regards the form of the various crews is gratifying. It is confidently expected that some very close finishes will be witnessed and it is very hard indeed to foretell which of the international crews will pull off the different races for which they have entered, eights, fours and pairs, although there is more than a likelihood that the American crew will capture the pairs.

Given fine weather this year's spring regatta is assured of success with a record list of entries, the attraction of the various International races, a large attendance of houseboats, great keenness and consequent good condition on the part of the oarsmen entered, a strong and hardworking committee, and last but not least the enthusiastic support accorded to the Rowing Club by the officials of the Shanghai-Nanking Railway.

From our advertising columns may be gleaned full particulars as to the train service, and attention is drawn here to the fact that tomorrow two trains leave for the reach, viz., at 35 minutes past noon and five minutes past one. The latter will reach Henli in plenty of time to allow travelers thereby to reach the course before the first race, the Griffin Fours. Return trains to Shanghai leave Henli at 6 o'clock and 7:47 p.m.

As on the occasion of the last regatta, sleeping and dining cars will be stationed at Henli during the function and arrangements are in the hands of Messrs. Thos. Cook and Son, where tickets can be bought and all reservations made.

The program for tomorrow is:

3:30 p.m. Griffin Fours.
4:00 p.m. International Fours.
4:30 p.m. Canoe Tilting.
5:00 p.m. Griffin Pairs (heats).
5:30 p.m. Junior Sculls.

The canoe tilting should prove a pleasing variant on the legitimate oarsmanship exhibitions.

On Sunday the Orphanage Band will be in attendance to discourse a pleasing selection of popular music.

Sunday's program is:

a.m.
10:30 Griffin Pairs (final).
11:00 International Eights.
12:00 Scratch Fours, Veterans.
p.m.
1:30 Sailing Race and Polo.
3:00 Junior-Senior Fours.
3:30 Mixed Fours.
4:00 Barrel Polo.
4:30 International Pairs.
5:00 Motor Boat Race.

It may be observed that attention is not confined to strict rowing events, and all tastes are catered for.

Interest has been aroused by the publication in this paper last Sunday of former Henli records, and speculation is rife as to how close thereto this season's oarsmen will approach.

KIANGWAN RACES

The International Recreation Club will stage its 78th race meeting at Kiangwan on Saturday, a week from tomorrow. Entries for the events will close at the clubhouse tonight at 7 o'clock.

THE TRUTH SHALL BE TRIUMPHANT

Gink Fowler Kept Opponents Busy Furnishing Finishes For Fights He Started

BY 'BUGS' BAER

As a Frenchman, who fought for five years, I want to protest against this championing of this imposter, Gink Le Fowler, Monsieur Gink was well known to me, he being the only mounted K. P. in the service. He was in the Cavalry K. P. and galloped fearlessly into mess kitchens and captured many a dish of slum gullion single handed. But there was a time when the pie of victory turned sour on his knife And that was when he met Miquel Don Aldson, the Apache La Savatte champion. Don Aldson kicked Gink under the chin and your overrated champion turned eight backflips and was the first man in the world to be counted out in the air.

Yours until they cease thinking up amendments,

GEORGES LE BLANC.

We remember having heard of Miquel Don Aldson, but Le Blanc is wrong about Gink being counted out in the air. That would mean ten seconds in the sky and Gink never stayed in one place that long. True, he met Miquel, but Le Blanc's account is garbled. The meeting occurred in a Parisian cafe where Gink was holding down the office of Official Streeter.

His duties were simple. A client would get rough and try to plaster the bulldoze on the proprietor. In elegant French, the prop would chirp, "Gink, street this bum."

The Streeter would escort the hokey out by the hair and drop him carefully out of the cafe steeple. The streets of Paris are built of the softest, velvety granite

PREPARING AT HONGKEW PARK FOR OLYMPICS

Stands Nearly Completed; Track And Grounds Are Being Improved

PLAN SEATS FOR 8,000

Over Hundred Japanese Athletes Sailing Today; Get Big Send-off

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, May 19.—The Japanese athletes who are to take part in Olympic Games at Shanghai had an enthusiastic send-off today from Tokio by thousands of students, with flags and songs. They will leave Kobe tomorrow by the Yawata Maru.

Whereby the attention of the athletic public is turned toward Hongkew Park.

Here may be seen activity which forecasts a completely equipped playstead for the Far Eastern Championship Games and the open internationals, which are to begin at said Hongkew Park on May 30. Bleachers rising in several localities, workmen recindering the track, jumping pits in embryo and rolling of ground here and there are included in the program now in process and hundreds of men are at work to get the stands up and the various fields ready for representatives of China, Japan, the Philippines and countries of the West who will compete in the sports.

The layout has been planned so that persons purchasing seats in the grandstand may see the track events, field events, basketball, cage ball and volleyball. There will be separate stands for baseball and seats will be in place for those watching the tennis matches.

The track will be in excellent shape as it has been rolled several times and now a new covering of cinders is to be laid after which there will be more rolling. With a slight rain and then hot weather, the track may bring new records.

Football matches will be played on the Southern field while the baseball diamond will be in the Northwest corner of the park, facing Southeast so that the sun will not bother the players with the exception, perhaps, of the third baseman.

BLEACHERS NEARLY UP

The bleachers are nearly finished. Eight or nine sections of the grandstand are up and the baseball stands are half done. Several sections of the track bleachers are also in place.

The grandstand will be 230 feet long and 14 tiers high while the bleachers for the track and field stadium will be six tiers high in 11 sections, each 60 feet long. There will be seats for about 8,000 people. The baseball bleachers will accommodate about 1,000 people. They are to be 280 feet long and six tiers high.

Everything is in readiness for the Japanese athletes who are sailing from Kobe today. The Shanghai Japanese Athletic Association is looking after the housing of the Nipponese here and already two advance men have arrived here to see that everything is in proper shape. In the last two years a change of heart has overtaken the Japanese for at the Manila games the country sent but 15 men for the track, field and swimming events. Japan did not not even enter a baseball team two years ago.

With 102 men coming to Shanghai Japan is out to cop everything and the Japanese figure themselves sure winners in swimming, baseball and the marathon. According to the Japan Advertiser the Japanese basketball team will also win.

FILIPINOS LOOK GOOD

The writer does not believe that Japan can defeat the Philippines at baseball although with customary lack of foresight the Filipinos have made no effort to secure shore accommodations here and they plan to live aboard ship in the harbor. The Filipinos are getting here on the 25th and will be able to eliminate the sea legs, though late too.

Basketball will be a fight between the three Far Eastern teams. The Philippines will have a crack five and China will be strong. The

CY WILHOIT IS CAPTAIN OF BASEBALL

Popular First Baseman To Lead Team Against New Orleans

STANDS ARE UP

And Tickets Will Be Needed For Game With Huron

Captain Cy Wilhoit, for it is Captain Cy Wilhoit now, will lead the Shanghai baseball team against the New Orleans tomorrow afternoon and the Huron Sunday and the locals will have a strong aggregation to oppose the sailors.

And on Sunday if the fans crave admission to the sun protected stands, they must be equipped with membership tickets which may be secured from Secretary Woodrow Willson at the Pacific Mail Steamship office upon payment of ten Shanghai dollars.

Tomorrow will be the last day of grace for those who have not paid. Unless, of course, the signature adorns one of the delightfully blue tickets which forecast the payment of ten dollars. It will be remembered that the Baseball Club committee had these tickets printed in large numbers. Less than 600 have joined the club to date and between 600 and 1,600 saw the game last Sunday. Secretary Willson is out to remedy the discrepancy and those who have not yet done so will be asked to sign on Sunday. Otherwise they must sit in the sun.

Tomorrow's game against the New Orleans will be the last for Shanghai before starting the five-game series with the nine from the Asiatic Fleet flagship. It will give the locals opportunity to try out a new moundman, Denniston, and to let other twirlers show. An attempt should be made to win the game, of course, but every pitcher should get a chance to give Captain Cy a line on what can be done under fire. Merrill and Terry have worked. But we have not seen Gallop nor Devine. And Denniston is the new man.

It is expected that Roeser will catch a few innings at least.

GOOD TEAM IN SIGHT

If Shanghai can get any sort of a battery, we will have a while of a team to represent this village in the open international championships, for the civilians have a crack infield and outfield, good fielders and men who are pretty fair with the stick.

Wilhoit on first, Ladd at second, Bills in short field and Maloney on third make a sweet combination. Ladd's return to the game means that the troublesome second sack will be looked properly. This will mean that Brad Crow will go to the outfield with Hopkins and Smith, the trio who showed so well in the big series two years ago. All three are good hitters and inside baseball players.

Many believe that Denniston will bolster up the pitching staff and Terry and Devine may be relied upon to take their turn in the box and bother the opposition. Gallop and Devine have not rounded into shape but Gallop was a good twirler in his high school days and after, when he pitched for fast semi-pro teams in the vicinity of the world's greatest city. Need it be added that Gallop hails from Boston?

The election of Cy Wilhoit to the leadership of the Shanghai team is a deserving honor accorded a man who has had his heart and soul in local baseball for seven years. Cy knows baseball and can play it. He is one of the most popular men on the diamond here, with the players and the fans, and there is sure to be the proper team spirit with Cy at the helm.

that can be procured. The guy who is streeted is usually considered fortunate if he bounces in the right direction. On this occasion, Miquel got a bad break and bounced back into the cafe with both his shoes working in spasmodic La Savatte fashion.

MIQUE LANDS 6 KICKS

Parrying a left groundgripper with his chin, Gink stepped inside of Mique's shoelaces and whipped over a right that missed his man but rung up a ten dollar sale on the cash register. It was a powerful blow, and, had it landed, there would have been no telling when the fight might have started. Mique then tried to feint, distracting Gink's attention with six kicks in the dyspepsia district while he vainly tried to land the finishing blow with his right dancing pump. The boot struck Gink a glancing blow in the pit of the stomach and Gink rolled over like a hoop.

He then took a couple of stampers on the skull but managed to check his hat before it was soiled and swamped Don Aldson with a left that only missed him by inches, or even yards. At the most, it wasn't more than a furlong. Mique turned pale without much effort and tumbled into a male swoon. Gink managed to get one hand out of Mique's pockets long enough to resume the fighting and both boys fell into three or four neutral corners at the gong.

Here is the blow that ended the fight. Mique had forgotten to take off his souvenir watch and chain. Naturally, this was meat in the lion's cage. Gink worked on the chain until he had it groggy and then slipped over the double dip that left Mique without a pawn ticket.

GINK AWARDED DECISION

Gink pulled a fake yawn after being kicked behind the ear with fourteen dollars worth of hobnailed boots. Seeing this opening, Don Aldson tried to stuff a brand new heel into it. Gink parried with a water carafe and sluffed Mique through a plate glass mirror. All La Savatte champions are superstitious. Mique refused to fight after he pried himself loose from the glistening debris. He thought it was bad fortune to be thrown through a mirror.

Naturally, Gink was awarded the fight, the bill for the mirror and the entire gate receipts consisting of money in infinitesimal quantities. Gink continued the street ing process and when Mique regained his composure, he discovered that he had eleven new candles on his birthday cake. Surely, a battle of Cardiff giants.

Preparing At Hongkew Park

marathon must be conceded to Japan as neither China nor the Philippines will enter a team. Japan is also figured by the writer as an easy winner in the swimming. With Waseda touring the United States Japan loses two or three good baseball men but the team is drawing heavily on alumni this year. But the Philippines nine will be a wonderful aggregation.

In track and field the Philippines should have an easy victory although China and Japan will cut in on the middle distance and long distance events. The sprints, hurdles, jumps and field events will be taken by the Filipinos with points scattering to Japan and China.

Chu En-te, who hung up a record for the decathlon and pentathlon two years ago, hove into town yesterday looking the picture of in-top condition. He claims he will again cop the events for China.

In the meantime, keep Hongkew Park in mind for that is where all these things are going to happen.

Australians, In Match With Essex, Pile Up Big Lead

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 18.—The Australians opened a match against Essex at Leyton today in glorious weather, and in the presence of ten thousand spectators. Batting first on a good wicket, Essex were dismissed for 144, thanks mainly to the fast bowling of McDonald and Gregory, the former taking four wickets for 54 and the latter three for 32.

At close of play the Australians had scored 222 for six wickets.

In the county championship, Hampshire beat Kent by 131 runs.

Fake Pistol Supply Gets A Curtailment

It is a theory of the police that a certain percentage of the armed robberies which occurr in the Settlement are consummated with the aid of weapons which if closely examined would fail to terrify. It is thought that one of the sources of such appurtenances to crime was cut off Wednesday when Detective Sergeant Yorke stepped into a general shop at 1045 Bubbling Well Road and inquired regarding a display of toy revolvers, life sized and highly efficient in appearance.

The shop keeper stated that he had received the consignment from a foreign lady living on Tsongchow Road and that he had disposed of about 13 of the pseudo-weapons. He promised that he would return the remainder of the consignment and would sell no more. A report has gone in to police headquarters on the subject and inquiries are proceeding.

Wu Pei-Fu Favored For Tuchunship In Chekiang Province

News from Peking indicates that General Wu Pei-fu will succeed Tuchun Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang as a result of Lu's collapse at the Tientsin Conference. The conferring of the Third Order of Merit on Major-General Ho Fung-ling, the Defense Commissioner of Shanghai and Woosung, is said to forecast the downfall of Lu Yung-hsiang at an early date.

Reports go on to explain that Peking, while aware of the military power of Lu, also knows that the real strength is vested in Ho Fung-ling and as long as Peking is assured of the allegiance of the local commissioner, Lu will be harmless when the few forces in Chekiang are taken over by Wu Pei-fu.

However, General Wu has not yet consented to come South on account of the unsettled conditions in the North. He believed, in a telegram to his chief, Tsao Kun, that his departure for Chekiang may weaken Tsao's stand in Chihli.

Local Organisations Disapprove Li, New Finance Minister

Various local organisations are protesting to Peking over the appointment of Li Shih-wei as Minister of Finance, on the grounds that he is too pro-Japanese.

The Shanghai Students' Union has wired the newly appointed Minister that by reason of his previous close connections with the Japanese the people are excited, and asking that he decline the appointment.

The Chunghwa Industrial Research Association has sent a telegram to President Hsu to cancel the mandate of appointment for the same reason.

Price Again Up; Rice Robberies Are Feared Here

With the price of rice hovering around the $12.00 mark and apprehension being expressed of the danger of rice shop robberies, the Chief of the Shanghai and Woosung Constabulary has ordered an extra force of detectives to patrol the beats in Chinese territory.

Tuchuns Honored By 16 Provinces

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 19.—Representatives of Tuchuns of 16 Provinces entertained yesterday Generals Tsao Kun, Wang Chan-yuan and Chang Tso-lin. The last-named general exhorted the delegates to push on with the election when they returned to their homes. He emphasised that the most important questions before the country were the elections and the disbandment of the soldiery, and both required active co-operation on the part of the Provinces.

Chilian Dockers' Boycott Aimed At Liquor Shipments

(Reuter's Service)

Antofagasta, Chile, April 2.—Strikes have been in progress among the maritime workers here almost continuously for the past 10 months, and are reported to have caused heavy losses to the steamship lines. Business interests are much concerned over this situation, and it is feared that Antofagasta—the principal port in Northern Chile—may lose most of its shipping business as a result.

The British Government is reported to have made representations to the Chilian Foreign Office to the effect that British steamship companies would be forced to suspend calls here unless there was early improvement in the port's labor conditions. The newspapers assert that Lloyd's in London has threatened to refuse to insure cargo destined for Antofagasta, owing to thefts of merchandise, which are alleged to be widespread in the port.

It is asserted that certain groups of port workers have now established a virtual boycott against all steamship companies that are known to be transporting liquors. This is part of an agitation against the sale of liquor, which already had resulted in the refusal of the port workers to load or unload it here.

Quotes Hazlitt In Criticism Of America

London, April 9.—The failure of America to appreciate the "Beggar's Opera" is considered here to be the fault not of the opera but of America. The dramatic critic of the Daily News, in commenting on New York's lack of appreciation, quotes from an essay by Hazlitt, "On Reading New Books," written a hundred years ago, as follows:

"In America this sterling satire is hooted off the stage because fortunately they have no such state of manners as it describes before their eyes and because unfortunately they have no conception of anything but what they see."

Fake Trade Mark On Safety Razor Blades

London, April 9.—Safety razor blades with a forged trade mark are being smuggled into England presumably from Germany, according to customs authorities who testified at the trial of Max Gerson, described as a diamond merchant.

A well known safety razor company prosecuted the case after leaving specimens of the genuine blades with officials. Gerson arrived from Ostend with 1,600 blades, said to bear a false trademark. He said the blades came from Germany, and believing them genuine he thought he could make a profit on them.

ORDERS FOR WEEK ENDING MAY 28

Association Orders:

May 24, 7:45 a.m. Empire Day. Parade on Bund, Yangtsze Building. Full Uniform.

Saturday, May 28, Morning: Jamboree Ticket Selling Campaign (Particulars later).

Friday, June 3, 5:30 p.m. Combined Jamboree Practice. Scout Notes.

At the Officers' Meeting this week the final arrangements for the Jamboree were made and quoted briefly they are as follows:

The ground for the Competition will be that to the North of the Public School for Boys. It will be divided into 6 sections—one for each Troop—upon which the events will be carried out. The ground to the rear of each section will be allotted to the same Troop and they will be expected to keep all their gear in that section. Troops will erect signposts 6ft. high to the rear of their own sections giving their names in bold characters.

All events will be started by one blast on the whistle—when competitors will fall in to the rear of their section.

Two blasts will denote that the competition may begin.

Three blasts—that the competition has ended and all competitors will fall in to the rear of their section again.

Four blasts—dismiss.

The Firelighting event will be ordered by bugle after the first blast of the whistle.

The actual time for each event was settled and will be published later.

The opening rally will be carried out as laid down in Scouting for Boys. Two flags will be hoisted together, the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, and all Troops will stand at the alert whilst the General Salute is played. At the conclusion of the General Salute the Double will be sounded and all Troops will double back to their own quarters and remain under the command of their officers. Scouts must not wander about the ground during the afternoon.

The marks awarded will be tabulated on the Results Board at the conclusion of each event. The Shield will be presented to the winning Troop at the conclusion of the Jamboree and will be held until the next Jamboree in the Autumn.

All materials for bridge building, tent pitching, fire lighting, signalling, ambulance, etc., etc., should be carted down on Friday evening, June 3, when a combined practice for all Troops will be carried out at 5:30 p.m. Final instructions will be issued during the practice and for the show to be a success everyone should be present.

THE BIG PUSH

On Saturday, the 28th inst., every scout who is fit will turn out in full uniform at 8:00 a.m. and acting upon instructions which will be issued by Scoutmaster Looker next week, will endeavor to sell as many tickets as possible in the area allotted to him. The money obtained will all go towards the purchasing of land for a permanent camp, a thing the scouts of Shanghai do not at present possess, and as the scouts are not allowed to beg they intend to make this a real success by selling as many books of tickets as they can during the course of the morning. In place of the proposed scheme whereby the Troops were to obtain marks for the number of tickets sold the Troop which sells the highest percentage number of tickets per scout will have the first chance of going into camp when it is opened, and every troop stands an equal chance owing to the percentage basis upon which the result is calculated.

Many prominent men of Shanghai have kindly consented to act as judges during the afternoon and the Association begs to tender their heartiest thanks to them. The full list will be published next week together with the duties allotted to them.

American Woman's Club Notes

Mr. E. H. Strehlneck exhibited his collection to two groups of Literary Department members during the week past. The reputation of this collector is well known, not only locally, but in more general way through the illustrated catalogue of his collection, published a few years ago. His antiquities comprise paintings, sculptures, bronzes, porcelains and jades; chosen with the discrimination of a connoisseur, and are weeded ruthlessly of all mediocre objects.

The collection of sculptures is exceptionally large and varied. Some of the Buddhas and Kwan Yins are centuries previous to the stereotyped figures usually seen, of these deities. A notable example is a marble Amitahba Buddha of the Sung period about three feet high, with a body halo and base which add considerably to the height. The head is surrounded by a circular halo of concentric rings with an outer rim of lotus and leaves in relief. An outer halo rises from the base and encloses the entire body, the carvings of which represent flames. The marble shows traces of rich color. Two larger sculptures similar in type, are of even more remote antiquity. A number of modern statues from Honan are unique to this collection and seem to refute the pronouncement that modern China is producing no art. Of these a companion pair of female figures with lions, are of beautiful design, with the graceful flowing, repeated lines of the Tang costume. The figures are natural in pose, the faces highly attractive, showing a Greek cast of features. The faint pink hue of the marble renders the faces pleasingly life like.

Among the bronzes are impressively, modelled heads and full-figures of various deities and heroes of good sculptural effect; many sacrificial vessels, bells and swords of the Chou, Han and later periods. A very large bronze brazier is of an early period. It is three feet in diameter, and about seven inches deep. The broad rim has archaic dragon heads in low relief, while in the bottom are incised a fish and an egret.

One floor of the house is fitted in old Chinese style of the Tang period, and occasioned much surprise, as the prototype of Japanese houses of the present day. Padded straw matting, sliding lattices with paper panes, and the alcove of honor, with its kakemous, and vase of peonies; seemed quite familiar. A screen before the entrance, frames two paintings of the Josa school, gave evidence of eclectic chocice in the collector. An imperial rug of the Chien Lung period, occupies the center of the room, the colors and designs of which invite close study. Four cabinets in this room hold treasures in jade, ivory, porcelains and enamelled gold scent bottles.

One cabinet is filled with exquisite manifestations of Chinese skill in carving semi-precious stones. Two tea bowls of white jade are carved with a peony-spray in relief. The texture of the jade is like frost on a window pane, semi-translucent, showing blue and green rainbow effects. A Sung piece is a semi-circular bridge of white jade standing in a swirling stream of green jade. A humorist carved the figures upon the bridge. An unfortunate male person is trying to persuade a horse ridden by a woman, and a reluctant donkey to descend the precipitous curve, while a pedestrian slightly lower down clings to some trees for safety. A wheelbarrow coolie is toiling up the other side with part of his load in hand, while the remainder of his load rests in the barrow on the top. Altogether, one feels relieved that the style in bridges is modified since the Sung. The masterpiece of the jades is considered to be a Sung vase of flawless white. The vase, cover and connecting chain are carved from one stone. A crested bird like a pheasant is carved in full relief on the cover, and its mate upon the zone of the vase. A spray of prunus and dragon-head handles with rings complete the decorative features.

Blue and white porcelains, celadons and white monochromes fill the three other cabinets. Among the Sung whites, a Kwan-yin of blanc de Chine is noteworthy for richness of glaze and depth of the creamy color. The figure is seated on a rock, with one spray of lotus protruding; face and head show decided differences with the usual Ming type. There is no head-dress, and the hair falls down upon the shoulders. Other pieces of white that stand out are a large placque of the Ting-yao, with a border of peonies embossed under the glaze, and a pair of fishes in the bottom; an example of the prized Ju-yao is a bowl with lilies incised; a most attractive pair of, tea bowls about six inches in diameter are of Sung blanc de Chine shaped by cutting the paste into lotus design. Bowls of the Chien-yao in a cloudy black are an unusual type. Small bowls of boat-shape are the "plum-green." Two small bowls of the Chien-Yao are of a beautiful pale blue, with purple transformations.

Most of the visitors had the satisfaction for the first time of seeing the almost fabulous ware called Nien-Yao—"sky-blue-after-rain." One feels after seeing these Strehlneck imperial pieces that the term now has meaning, having seen it demonstrated that the color is precisely as described. A look at the Shanghai sky on this sunny day after weeks of rain (not too high, a little above the tree-tops) gives the precise tone of mellow blue with much red in the composition which these pieces show. The glaze is very thick and unctuous to the touch like polished jade. Two pieces have no decoration beside the glaze, a third piece is a large vase in Han style and has two narrow bands raised on either side of the zone, and handles embossed in the shape of sheep's heads.

The paintings are of many periods, many artists and many subjects, all selected from the view point of the artist rather than the antiquarian. Of the many which would reward long study, a few outstanding ones are of a benevolent old sage, seated on a platform in delighted contemplation of a mountain scene draped with streamers of mist; a pair of eagles among bamboos weighted with soft snow, sinuous full-bodied birds, by a Yuan artist; two of bamboos, one in storm, the other of the feathery, fairy like bamboo which resembles ripe oats. Peculiarly piquant was a flock of snow-birds alighting upon a tree beside a rocky brook. The landscapes were of interest and diversity. Famous personages had their representation. An interior scene showing the fascinating Yang Kwei-fee, was of vivid interest to those who lately listened to the history of Ming Huang.

The chief treasure is an album of small paintings by four famous artists of the Sung period; Ma Yuan, Mai Chi, Liang Chih and Li Ti. It created a sensation among the artists of the group. Granting nothing for difference of art-ideals, each picture, whether landscape or floral is a masterpiece.

BRITISH SHOWMEN TIRE OF OLD FILMS

Resolve To Stop Booking Those To Be Shown After Aug. 31, 1922

London, April 9.—A serious agitation against the system which fills British cinemas with old films came to a head this week, when the general council of the Cinematograph Exhibitors Association adopted the following resolution: "Exhibitors shall cease to book films which are to be shown after August 31, 1922. The system of booking films in blocks must be given up. Exhibitors are to ask renters of pictures for a rebate of 25 percent on pictures already booked under contract."

Matters have come to such a pass that cinemas have booked pictures as far in advance as the middle and even the end of 1922, while the renters who have bought and paid for the pictures must wait two years for the money agreed on for the showing.

The action should interest American distributors because of the majority of pictures shown here. Certainly the most popular are those produced in America, which necessarily were booked up many months ago. Even some American war time pictures are being shown now, and Chaplin's "Shoulder Arms" is all the rage.

A dramatic critic commenting on Chaplin this week said that he had read in New York papers of the great hit made by Charlie Chaplin's latest picture ("The Kid") and he felt that there must be something wrong with British management, because it could not be expected to see this picture here for many months yet.

Attempts are being made to organise the whole industry upon a basis of co-operation, but there is fear of crushing the small man by a combination of big ones. The proprietor of one of the largest circuits says that the public is tired of seeing pictures two years old, and adds that "the time has come when we must show the newest and best pictures, no matter in what country they are made."

BRITISH BREWERS START REFORMS

Introduce Licensing Bill In Parliament Abolishing Present Control

HOURS MADE LONGER

Travellers Restored To Old Status, But No Sunday Selling In Wales

London, April 9.—While the Government has been marking time waiting for the new liquor control bill which was promised at the last session of Parliament the brewers have formulated a reform scheme in the form of a licensing bill introduced in the House of Commons by Col. John Gretton and supported by a number of conservative members of Parliament.

The measure represents an attempt by the liquor trade to reform itself instead of letting others reform it. It aims to let down the bars all around and makes a clean sweep of the present liquor control board, which is a war body, and greatly increases the hours of sale, although it reduces the pre-war hours by nearly one-half.

The measure gives the licensed victualler new protection against decisions by licensing justices and subjects clubs to the same hours as public houses.

Before the war places selling liquor were allowed to keep open nineteen and a half hours in London, seventeen hours in other towns and sixteen in the country. The present rule is six hours daily. It is proposed to allow places to keep open not more than eleven hours and not less than nine hours.

No alteration of the former Sunday hours is proposed, but in Wales there will be no Sunday selling under the proposed measure. The hours may be continuous or with intervals of closing. This is to be fixed in each town and country parish by licensing justices of the district, but the rules may vary in regard to particular premises. Liquor may be sold at any time in railway refreshment rooms to persons arriving from distances of not less than twenty miles.

At present the bona fide traveller does not exist at all under the control board ruling and cannot get intoxicants at his hotel or lodging place during the prohibition hours. Under the new bill he is restored to his old status; that is a person who on the previous night lodged at least three miles from the place in which he asks liquor may be supplied at any time.

The new bill at the same time takes measures to make evasions of the law more difficult. Another provision allows the sale at any time of spirits required by persons suffering from the effects of a recent accident or sudden illness or any emergency of that nature. The quantity of liquor which may be sold to a child in a corked bottle is reduced by the bill from a pint to a half pint. Also adults are not to be precluded from taking a child into any part of a licensed premises. Penalties for drunkenness also are favored.

It is made an offense for a holder of a license to refuse to supply suitable refreshment other than intoxicating liquor at reasonable prices. The playing of a lawful game for recreation also is favored.

Hankow Market

The British Chamber of Commerce of Hankow write as follows in their weekly circular dated Hankow, May 11:

FINANCE AND MONEY MARKET

Business continues inactive although there are slight signs of an improvement. Taels T.T. on Shanghai: Chinese market 97.537. Foreign Banks quote 97⅞. Dollars: Chinese market 70.475. Native Interest: 4 percent per annum.

EXPORTS

Some purchases of Wood Oil are reported and the market is considerably firmer owing to scarcity of spot cargo.

Sesamum Seed is also firm. Other quotations are mostly unchanged and little business doing.

IMPORTS

Piece Goods: A decidedly better feeling is in the market and prices for Whites and Greys have advanced.

Yarn:—Local prices are down from 3-5 Taels per bale.

Shanghai Tramways

The following is the Traffic Return of the Shanghai Tramways (Foreign Settlement) for the week ended May 18, 1921, with figures for the corresponding week last year:

	1921	1920
Gross receipts	$57,279.90	$48,654.92
Loss by currency depreciation	18,146.74	12,782.48
Effective receipts	$39,133.16	$35,872.44
Percentage of loss by currency depreciation	33.22	27.55
Car miles run	102,254	93,716
Passengers carried	2,491,897	2,182,453

Coal Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their coal market report of yesterday:

JAPAN COAL

We have another dull fortnight to report on this market and deliveries are moving very slowly, whilst stocks on the spot are ample including a certain quantity of coals of inferior grade which are awaiting disposal and the market is consequently a little weak.

The coal market in Japan is also easier. The recent decision of the Mine Owners Association to reduce the output of their mines by about twenty percent from now on has not yet had time to make itself felt but it should eventually have a steadying influence on the market.

FUSHUN COAL

No change.

FUCHUNG ANTHRACITE COAL

We understand the military troubles in Honan are now over and the output is proceeding in a normal way.

KAIPING COAL

Supplies from the North have been more regular and deliveries under contract monopolise all the available tonnage. Prices remain firm there being a big demand for the better grades generally and enquiries for shipments abroad have not been entertained.

Freight Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their freight market report of yesterday:

The situation in our Outward Freight markets is as follows:

TO UNITED KINGDOM AND CONTINENT

There is no change to report on this berth as far as cargo is concerned but since last writing the China Homeward Conference has reduced the rate of freight on all cargo—except the rates on cereals which were mentioned as having been reduced in our last issue—to the basis of 75/-: that is a reduction of approximately 16 percent to take effect from May 12; no great increase in the demand for space has been noticed but things are better than they were and the Hankow market shows signs of activity.

TO UNITED STATES VIA PACIFIC AND VIA PANAMA AND SUEZ

There is no change to report on any of these berths and the dearth of cargo is making itself very severely felt, although Transpacific Freight rates are being maintained; those via Panama and Suez Canals are very weak.

COASTWISE

This market is very dull indeed—even more so than two weeks ago—and there is not much doing even for the regular liners.

If the said customer presents the said Bill of lading for negotiating with any one of the public, please hold it and send to our Shanghai or Nanking offices and receive $100 reward. $50 will be paid for information leading to the arrest. Reward is deposited as guarantee.

An Announcement Of A Rich Collection Of Curios For Sale

A rich collection of curios is open for exhibition in my residence. It contains more than two hundred articles, of which the most antique Bronzes are ascertained to range from Shang and Chow Dynasties to that of the Two Hans, and the porcelains from Peh Soong to the beginning of the Tsin Dynasty. They are all well preserved pieces, real and fine. Regarding the genuineness, it has been verfied either by authentic ancient books or by inscriptions as well as initials thereon. None of them is questionable as to its age, designs, markings, etc.

In addition to the Bronzes and Porcelains, there are also wide varieties of valuable Carvings in wood, bamboo, and precious stones, also natural Fossils, Inter-Stones, Tanshi Stones, and Chrysanthemum Stones, etc. Most of these articles are magificent masterpieces of ancient fine art as identified in themselves, and already encased in beautiful artistic casing so as to facilitate transportation at any time.

Due to the successive disturbances in the province, and the recent irregular financial conditions in general, the proprietors of this collection are willing to offer their highly esteemed treasure for cash. Now I take the liberty to introduce the same collection to any Chinese or foreign connoisseur who is prepared to take same over at a favorable price.

Those interested in the matter of inspection are requested to apply to Chen Wan Shian Tan, No. 4 Shu Day Tze Kow, Changsha, Hunan, by notifying me in advance, so that I will have the honor of welcoming their esteemed visits at a specified time.

CHEN WAN SHIAN TAN.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

May 19, 1921

Spot bar silver was down 1/4d. and forward 3/8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 59½ cents and the London-New York cross rate improved to 400½. The official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday with the exception of the Franc rate which was raised to 750 and the Rupee rate to 250.

At the opening the market was very weak indeed with good buyers of practically all currencies at official quotations. Banks sold a fair amount at these rates and later in the day speculators became sellers and rates steadied up somewhat as high as 3/2¾ for Sterling and 64½ for Gold Dollars being done. However, this steadiness was due entirely to the action of speculators and is no evidence of strength in the silver market.

Advices received from abroad regarding silver are still weak and the tendency still downward. There was again a very heavy demand for Francs and Marks today. A further substantial improvement im Francs is not unlikely due to the improved European conditions regarding the German indemnity.

England, America And Japan---And A Mysterious Treaty

IN Wednesday's issue of THE CHINA PRESS was published the following Reuter cablegram:

"Kansas City, May 17.—Addressing a gathering of the St. Andrews Society here, Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, denied that there was any possibility of Great Britain being drawn into a conflict with the United States owing to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. He declared that such rumors were due to German propaganda.

"Sir Auckland emphasised that the Treaty specifically provided that it should not operate against any nation with which Great Britain or Japan had a general arbitration treaty, and that such a treaty existed between Great Britain and the United States, in the form of the 'Peace Commission Treaty.'"

Here we again find mention of the mysterious "Peace Commission Treaty." This treaty is alleged to have been entered into by the United States and Great Britain in September, 1914—about one month after Britain declared war on Germany. To have concluded such a secret treaty at such a time would have been a most extraordinary procedure on the part of President Wilson and the United States, and in fact no such a treaty could have been concluded without the approval of the United States Senate. Yet so far as we are aware the Senate to this day is unaware of its existence.

Mr. Robert Young, able editor of The Japan Chronicle, also doubts the existence of such a treaty and in a recent editorial in which he demanded abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, said that practically the only evidence available pointing to the existence of this treaty was an article in The London Times.

Now comes Sir Auckland Geddes re-affirming its existence. What are we to think of this? Surely Sir Auckland, as British Ambassador to Washington, has something more to go on than a mere article in The Times. Here is what Editor Young has to say about the whole matter:

In the Diet a few days ago questions were asked with regard to the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, and the position of Great Britain should a war break out between Japan and America in regard to questions affecting the Far East. Before the Premier replied to these questions, which were asked both in the House of Representatives and the House of Peers, the two Houses in each case went into secret session. This seems to us most unfortunate. Why is there any necessity for secrecy if the relations between Britain and Japan are fully set forth in the agreements that have been published? Such a procedure on the part of the Diet must inevitably strengthen the suspicions that have found utterance in the United States, to the effect that besides the Alliance Treaty there is a secret agreement pledging Britain to assist Japan in case of a war with America.

We do not believe such an agreement is in existence, for it would run counter to the whole policy of Britain as regards the United States, while, if such an unfortunate event as a war between America and Japan should occur, the agreement would be inoperative, as any British Ministry which endeavored to put it into operation would be overthrown in twenty-four hours. But in holding secret sessions for the discussion of the relations between Japan and Great Britain, with the influence thereupon of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, the Diet is unfortunately strengthening the suspicions that exist. As our readers will be aware, considerable discussion has recently taken place in England with regard to the obligations of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance in the case of a war between Japan and America. It was begun by a statement made by Lord Northcliffe denying that any obligation rested upon Britain to aid Japan in such a war. Senator Reed, of Missouri, described this denial as a "mere plea of confession of avoidance."

Thereupon the Times, the principal organ of Lord Northcliffe's group of papers, published a statement in which it reviewed the position of Britain under the Alliance. Referring to the revision of the treaty in 1911, by which it is agreed that should either party to the document make a treaty of general arbitration with a third Power, such party should not be bound to go to war with a third party in the circumstances outlined by the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, the Times says that when this clause was inserted in the treaty, Britain was on the point of signing a general arbitration treaty with the United States, but this treaty never went into force, failing to obtain the approval of the Senate. That being the case, it may be argued that Great Britain is now bound by the general obligations of that instrument to fight beside Japan even against the United States.

"To this contention," says the Times, "the Peace Commission Treaty of September 1914 gives an answer. It is not, indeed, technically 'a treaty of general arbitration,' but it is near akin to such a treaty. It obliges England and the United States to refer 'all disputes of every nature whatsoever,' other than disputes the settlement of which is provided for under existing agreements, to a Permanent International Commission for investigation and report, though it reserves to the Governments the right of independent action after the report has been submitted."

The existence of this treaty will come as a surprise to most people. Hitherto it has been generally believed that the last attempt of Great Britain to conclude an arbitration treaty with the United States was in 1911, when it was disapproved by the Senate and failed to go into operation. Now we are told that three years later, at a time when there was a sharp division of opinion in America over the war in Europe and much irritation because of the interference with American vessels by British cruisers, an arbitration treaty was signed between Britain and America, and presumably was approved by the Senate, which had opposed such a treaty when the relations between the two countries were on perfectly amicable terms. It is very remarkable. The curious thing is that Americans seem to be as ignorant of the existence of such a treaty as Englishmen. Since 1914 the New York Times has published a "Current History of the War," and in the issue for January 23, 1915, gives a chronology of all the principal events up to that time associated with the political and economic as well as the military side of the struggle. One of these sections is headed "American Interests," covering the period from July 26, 1914, to October 10 of the same year. It has no mention of such an important matter as a treaty of arbitration or a Peace Commission Treaty being signed by the United States with Great Britain during this period, though it might have been expected that the event would have aroused considerable attention.

Nor can we find a reference to any such treaty in the volumes of "Current History" either in 1914 or subsequent years. In October 1915 the World Peace Foundation, an American organisation, published a list of the "Arbitration Engagements now existing in Treaties, Treaty Provisions, and National Constitutions." It was compiled by Mr. Denys P. Myers, and was corrected to July 1, 1915. No mention is made in it of any treaty of arbitration or Peace Commission Treaty signed in September of 1914. The treaty of arbitration between Britain and the United States, signed at Washington on August 3, 1911, is referred to, but it is explained that the treaty never came into operation, as the amendments proposed by the Senate were not accepted by the President, who refused to ratify it. The impression left upon the reader is that no arbitration treaty between Britain and America is now in force. Similarly in England the Manchester Guardian "History of the War," though it devotes much space to the relations between Britain and America, knows nothing of the Peace Commission Treaty of 1914. The various annuals giving an account of the history of 1914 are equally ignorant of the existence of this treaty. No one seems to have heard of it until the Times discovered its existence a couple of months ago. It is all very strange.

Nevertheless, the Times is most categorical in its statement. It says that "so anxious were the British Government to make their attitude in the contingency of any eventual controversy between Japan and the United States clear, that upon the signature of this Peace Commission Treaty they proceeded immediately to notify Japan that they would regard it as a 'general treaty of arbitration' within the the meaning of the exemption clause in the Anglo-Japanese Alliance." This seems definite enough and at first sight it would appear that Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Ambassador to Britain, confirms the statement. In an interview published in the Times he says that it was "never in the mind of the Japanese Government to fight the United States at all, and, moreover, in the most improbable eventuality of such war, to which I refer merely for the sake of argument, Japan would not expect England to come to her help. Hence, the Japanese and the British Governments agreed to insert in the Agreement of Alliance Article IV., which would absolve Great Britain from an obligation to join Japan in a war against America. Only a general phraseology was selected in the Alliance Agreement for the reasons of diplomatic nicety, but what the negotiators of the Agreement had in mind is obvious." While this is published as if confirmatory of the statement in the Times, it is significant that Baron Hayashi says nothing about the existence of the Peace Commission Treaty of September 1914, or of the notification of Japan by Britain that it would be regarded as a general treaty of arbitration within the meaning of the exemption clause in the Anglo-Japanese Alliance Treaty. When the Japanese Government is questioned on the matter in the Diet, a secret session is held and the nation is kept in ignorance regarding the authenticity of the statement in the Times. The difficulty of arriving at the truth is further complicated by the fact that if such notification was given to Japan, and accepted, this occurred during the Kenseikai regime under Marquis Okuma, and the Kenseikai party in the Diet would therefore be more willing than might otherwise be the case to support the secrecy which surrounds the incident.

If the assumption is true that secret diplomacy was abolished with the coming into operation of the League of Nations, it seems incumbent on both the British and Japanese Governments to make a frank statement on the matter. The British and the Japanese-peoples have a right to know what are their respective commitments under the Anglo-Japanese Alliance. Equally the people of the United States have the right to be informed where they stand, and also to learn something about this mysterious Peace Commission Treaty of September 1914, which seems to have committed the country without the knowledge of the Senate. We are inclined to believe that the Times, while usually well-informed on these diplomatic questions, is wrong on this occasion. It is quite possible that Japan has been informed that if hostilities broke out between her and the United States over a Far Eastern dispute, it would be impossible for Britain to go to her assistance, as participation would be resented by the English people and bitterly condemned by Australasia and Canada, but it is difficult to believe that the British Government seized upon some obscure arrangement between Britain and America to warn Japan that she would regard it as the treaty of arbitration provided for in the exemption clause of the Alliance. It is obvious that the original Treaty of Alliance never contemplated the possibility of America being the Power making "unprovoked attack or aggressive action" in Japan with the result that Britain would come to Japan's assistance. That being so, the straightforward course would be to eliminate America specifically from the list of possible opponents of Japan which would bring England automatically into the conflict. Such a limitation, however, plainly expressed, would offend the decencies of diplomatic agreements. It would, moreover, be fiercely resented in Japan.

The only alternative, therefore, is the abrogation of the Alliance. The agreement has failed utterly in its avowed objects. It has failed to preserve the independence of Korea, to maintain the integrity of China, or preserve the open door. It now threatens the relations between America and Britain, without improving the relations between America and Japan, and its abrogation is more likely to make for the maintenance of peace than its continuance.

What Is Relativity?

IN trying to answer the above the foreign residents of many Eastern Ports have made strenuous use of their dictionaries, and sad to relate, with but little satisfaction. First, because the subject is so new that most of the dictionaries do not define it in its modern meaning, and second, because it is so big that a dictionary definition can give but little satisfaction. Here are some suggestions that should be interesting and perhaps informing.

1. Relativity is an expanding conception of reality in that it is a record in succession of some of the most fundamental thinking of (a) Copernicus, (b) Gallileo, (c) Newton, (d) Einstein.

2. Relativity combines in an extremely interesting way some of the most fundamental data and concepts of mathematics, physics and philosophy.

3. Relativity is a modern refinement of the classical mechanics that owed its principal foundations to the researches and writings of Sir Isaac Newton.

4. Relativity is a reconsideration and a re-statement of our conceptions of most of the fundamentals of the physical universe, such as energy, mass, gravitation, space and time.

5. Relativity is a questioning of the infinite and the absolute.

6. Relativity is on the one hand a new conception of the universe, and on the other a re-examination of the roots of human thought.

7. Relativity is the most comprehensive and systematic summary of the physical universe that the human race has so far arrived at.

8. Relativity is a continent of ideas.

Of relativity, Sir J. J. Thompson, President of the British Royal Society, and Professor of Physics at Cambridge, has said: This is the most important result obtained in connection with the theory of gravitation since Newton's day. Einstein's reasoning is one of the highest achievements of human thought.

Of relativity Professor Planck, one of the world's greatest physicists, and the author of the Quantum Theory, has said: It surpasses in boldness everything previously suggested in speculative natural philosophy, and even in the philosophical theories of knowledge. The revolution introduced into the physical conception of the world is only to be compared in extent and depth with that brought about by the introduction of the Copernican system of the Universe.

This interesting subject, Relativity, will be discussed in a lecture by Professor C. H. Robertson, under the auspices of the Rotary Club, in the Hall of the Y. M. C. A., at 9 p.m. on Friday, May 27. The meeting is open to all who care to stimulate creative imagination or constructive thought. Tickets may be had by applying either to Mr. H. B. Lane, of Andersen, Meyer and Co., or to Mr. Geo. A. Fitch, 120 Szechuen Road.

THAT BOARDING HOUSE CASE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir.—With regard to your report in today's issue of the suit filed against me by Mme. Lieutaud, I beg to refer you to the accounts published in other newspapers from which you will see that my cancellation of the room was due to a misunderstanding of the terms of the contract, and that the allegation that I had cancelled without furnishing any explanation is absolutely incorrect. As your version of the case has caused me considerable annoyance, and has led several people to imply that my conduct in the matter has not been strictly honorable, I must, in order to protect my reputation, request you to be good enough to publish this disclaimer. I am, Sir, Yours faithfully,

MRS. ALICE MARSHALL.
Shanghai, May 19, 1921.

Note: The paragraph giving Mrs. Marshall's reasons for not going on with the contract was in some unaccountable way omitted from our report. She stated that after agreeing to take the room she heard that jam was served only once a week, that there was no afternoon tea, that use of the drawing room was restricted to boarders having guests and that no washing was permitted to be done in the rooms.—Ed.

OLD KING COAL

Old King Coal

Earned him dislike

WHEN PAT PUTS HIS FOOT IN IT

It is their unconscious humor that makes most stories of Irish life so refreshing.

A funeral near Limerick was followed by a lunch, at which champagne was served. One of the farmers sipped a glass of the sparkling liquid very dubiously. He tried again; then he sighed.

"These mineral waters are very tayjous," he said. "I wondther whin they'll get on the whisky."

It recalls the story of an Irish barrister who pleaded for a client who had bought a public-house and found that the licence had just been taken away.

"I appeal to you for my unfortunate client who bought this public-house," he said. "What is it now but the corpse of a public-house, with the living, breathing spirit of the licence taken away from it?"

* * *

An instance of the proverbial cheeriness of the Irishman is provided by the story of a railway guard who was reproached by a passenger for the train's delay.

He grinned pleasantly as he looked at his watch.

"Late—we are so. But, sure, what is the matter of a handful of minutes?" he said, going off cheerily.

"Did you strike the man?" a judge asked the defendant in a case of violent assault.

"I did not, me lord. Argyin' we were, an' maybe I beckoned me sthick at him. There's some has terrible tendther skulls on them that the wind of a sthick'd do for."

"Some people say that the Irish people are cruel to animals," says Dorothea Conyers in her Irish "Sporting Reminiscences" (Methuen).

"If they are, it is without thought that dumb beasts feel pain."

A priest met a man going into Kilkenny. He was beating a thin donkey cruelly. "Shame, Martin Casey!" he said, "beating the poor beast like that. Don't you know it was the good, kind animal which carried our Lord into Jerusalem?"

Martin poised his stick, his face unmoved. Then, "Indeed, your reverence," he said—whack! came the stick—"if He had to be above on this wan, He'd niver have got there."

A well-known racing and hunting man had an old gardener who was the bane of his life. One day his employer's patience gave way. Tom was told that he must leave the garden.

He earthed up potatoes, and remarked stolidly that he considered it his place to remain.

"Go to it—out of that!" stormed his master. The old man leant on his spade handle. "An' if I do go, Masther Harry," said he, "I'll just tell ye're father how ye've treated me."

CAIRENE SILHOUETTES

Napoleon's expedition to Egypt had a profound and remarkable influence in the sphere of world politics. Leaving France in May, 1798, as General, virtually banished by the Directory, he returned from Egypt in October, 1799, and then occurred the sharp swing of the political pendulum from republicanism to autocracy which carried him, by the coup d'etat of 19 Brumaire (10 Nov., 1799), to the office of First Consul, and thence to the imperial purple (18 May, 1804).

To frustate the possibility of a French invasion of India, via Egypt, led by Napoleon in person, was the governing idea of Lord Mornington's (Marquess of Wellesley) foreign policy, who was sent to India in 1798 as Governor General.

The ambitious policy and the continuous wars of Lord Wellesley came to a close in 1804, when Lord Cornwallis was sent out by the Directors in London as Governor General, to bring about peace.

More Truth Than Poetry

Pickled Praise

I used to have ambitions when I read
The sugared gush, the honeyed words of praise,
Concerning men who, being safely dead,
Received what they had longed for all their days.
I used to hope that after I was through,
And free from all concern about my job,
I might be worth a paragraph or two,
The printed token of a sigh or sob.

That hope has passed with other hopes I have had;
It will not matter in the least to me,
When I may help no other lad to be glad,
How brief or trite my "obit" be to be.
My soul will not be troubled, I am sure,
Because of what is said or left unsaid
When I have joined the famous host obscure
Who lead no longer nor are being led.

If I may gladden people here and there,
Or otherwise be helpful now and then,
And have the courage always to be fair
In dealing with and judging other men,
I'll need no tributes when my work is done
To keep my wandering spirit satisfied:
Let others have the praise; I'll ask for none
That must be kept in pickle till I've died.

The Yangtsze Insurance Association Co., Ltd.

An amalgamation of the Yangtsze Insurance Association and the Far Eastern Insurance company was assured yesterday at the annual meeting of the former at its offices on the Bund, by the passage of a resolution which provides for an exchange of stock between the two corporations and the assuming of the Yangtsze association of the position of principal stockholder in the Far Eastern Company.

The meeting of the Yangtsze association was called to order by Mr. John Prentice, chairman of the board of directors and with the stockholders standing a fine tribute was paid to the memory and the works of William Sanford Jackson, the association's general manager, recently deceased.

Directors B. A. Clarke, deputy chairman; H. E. Arnold, A. Howard and C. J. Scott and shareholders representing 25,430 shares were in attendance. A dividend of two dollars per share was declared, a donation of £1,000 each was voted to the Sailors' War Orphans' Fund and the King's Fund for Disabled, a salary bonus not to exceed 20 percent was allowed to the general manager and staff.

THE CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

"Gentlemen: Before commencing the official business of the meeting it is my sad duty to refer to the death of our late general manager, William Sanford Jackson, who died on May 7 last, a few days after the issue of the report now before you. Mr. Jackson spent nearly forty years in China in the service of the association and was its chief officer for the past thirty years. Its excellent progress during that period was the result of his unsparing efforts and his death is a great loss to us and to this community. He leaves behind him legacy of mourning among a wide circle of friends who were endeared to him by his bright spirit and his spontaneous generosity. I feel sure that it is your unanimous wish that a message of condolence from the shareholders, directors and staff of the association be sent to his nearest relatives.

"Your directors have appointed Mr. C. M. G. Burnie to succeed the late Mr. Jackson as general manager and I am sure that you share our good wishes for his success in the administration of the association's business.

WORKING ACCOUNTS

"This account shows a balance at credit of $1,902,884.42 and if you pass the resolution to be proposed later on with regard to the payment of a dividend of 20 percent and the donation of £1,000 each to the Sailors' War Orphans' Fund and to the King's Fund for Disabled, there will be a balance of $1,666,446.07 to carry forward. Second year settlements on 1919 account were heavy and we feel unable to recommend any allocation to reserve out of this account. The donations to the two deserving charities mentioned above require no commendation from me and I have no doubt you will sanction these payments.

"Our net premium income, $4-301,428.01 shows an increase of $1,364,653.21 over that of last year. Interest account, at $594,-968.38 shows an increase of $167,355.61. Fire reserve $180,-748.15 being the amount brought forward from 1919 to care for unexpired risks is higher by $59,-959.34 than the corresponding amount carried from the 1918 into the 1919 working account.

"Appreciation in exchange after deducting depreciation in the value of investments shows an acretion of $724,034.31 whereas last year we had to write off $379,433.64 to cover loss in exchange and the depreciation in the value of investments. Turning to the other side of the working account, net claims paid stand at $1,628,125.39 against $965,012.00 last year. Commission and charges are $604,485.59 against last year's figure of $416,-189.36.

"The balance of working account to be carried forward is $3,580,322.16 as compared with the previous year's balance of $1,718,821.75. These figures indicate a satisfactory increase in our business but in comparing the working account for 1920 and 1919 it must be remembered that the fall in sterling exchange has been a very considerable factor in this increase.

"The directors have decided not to recommend the payment of a dividend on 1920 account at present, but, as was done last year, they will declare an interim dividend in the Autumn if they consider that the estimated result of 1920 working justified such a payment.

EXCHANGE.

"The report points out that as regards this association's gold investments the rates at which these have been converted into Taels are the same as those adopted last year, viz. 5s. 2d. and 123 for sterling and gold dollars respectively. If, following our usual practice, we had converted these investments at the rates of exchange current on Dec. 31, 1920, viz. 4s. 1d. and 72¼ there would have been a considerable augmentation in our dollar figures. We considered it more prudent to maintain the rates adopted last year until such time as exchange becomes more stable.

"Gold figures in the working accounts and liquid gold assets have, as usual, been converted at the current rates of exchange for telegraphic transfer on Dec. 31, 1920, viz. 4s. 1d. and 72¼ for sterling and gold dollars respectively. An approximate sterling balance sheet has been attached to this report for the information more particularly of shareholders and constituents living in countries using a gold standard.

CAPITAL

"Since our last annual meeting the authorised capital of the association has been increased to $2,500,000 divided into 250,000 shares of $10 each. The issued capital remains at the previous figure of $1,200,000 representing 120,000 fully paid up shares of $10 each in place of 12,000 fully paid up shares of $100 each. You will be interested to learn that the subdivision of capital, by making the shares accessible to a wider circle of investors, has already resulted in a satisfactory increase in the numbers of our shareholders. The reserve fund remains unchanged and stands at $1,000,000.

"The reinsurance reserve fund, after being reduced to $770,000 by the withdrawal of $480,000 for the purpose of increasing our capital was restored last year to its former figure of $1,250,000 by the transfer of $363,720.80 from working account 1918 and former years and of $116,279.20 from building reserve fund. The last named reserve fund disappears from our balance sheet.

"Turning to the assets side of our balance sheet, our investments in sterling and other gold securities are set out in detail. A list of our other investments in stocks, debentures, shares, etc., is on the table for the inspection of any shareholder desiring to see it.

FAR EASTERN INS. CO. LTD.

"You have been notified by circular letter of a proposal on the part of The Yangtsze Insurance Association, Ltd. to acquire The Far Eastern Insurance Company, Ltd. by offering the shareholders of that company shares of the Yangtsze Insurance Association, Ltd. plus a cash payment in exchange for their shares in the Far Eastern company. To enable this scheme to be carried out your authority is required for the issue of part of our unissued capital and I will propose a resolution to this effect later on during the meeting.

"The past year, like its predecessor, has presented many difficulties to those engaged in marine and fire insurance business. In marine business there is no diminution in claims for theft and pilferage and ordinary losses resulting from perils of the seas have increased by reason of the numerous badly constructed vessels now afloat. In fire business poor trade generally has affected moral hazard with the inevitable result that fires have been numerous. I do not, however, wish to convey too pessimistic a view. There is a silver lining to every cloud and we can look forward to better times ahead.

"Your directors again wish to place on record their appreciation of the work done by the late general manager and the entire staff of the association and I intend to show our appreciation by putting a resolution before you later on proposing payment of the usual bonus."

AMALGAMATION

The chairman in proposing the resolution which would make the Yangtsze company the principal shareholder in the Far Eastern Insurance company said:

"The two companies have always worked in combination but your directors are satisfied that complete fusion of interests will redound to the mutual advantage of both companies. I would point out that both companies will continue to operate separate entities. The effect of the amalgamation will be that the Yangtsze will become the principal shareholder in the Far Eastern company and you, as shareholders in the Yangtsze will thus benefit indirectly from the profits of the Far Eastern Company.

"The offer has been based on a comparison of the intrinsic values of the shares of the two companies and in the opinion of the boards of the two companies is thoroughly fair to the shareholders of both concerns.

"If you pass the resolution which I am now about to propose, an offer in the terms stated in the circular letter of May 4, will in due course be made by the Yangtsze Insurance Association, Ltd. to the individual shareholders of the Far Eastern Insurance Company, Ltd. and if a sufficient number of the shareholders of that company accept the offer, the acquisition of the shares will be proceeded with.

"I could also mention that any new shares of the association issued to the shareholders of the Far Eastern Company, Ltd. will rank pari passu with the old shares as regards any dividends declared subsequent to their issue."

That the directors are hereby directed and authorised to pay to the general manager and staff of the association a bonus on their salaries for last year and that it be left to the board to decide the amounts to be paid which however shall in no case exceed 20 percent.

7.—Proposed by the chairman, seconded by Mr. Arnold:

Reports Of Plague At Chefoo Erroneous

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, May 16.—We have had no cases of plague in our midst thus far. A Japanese paper published here stated that cases had occurred in the Chong Fa Hair Net factory but our Port Doctor is able to deny this statement. Enquiry at the factory reveals that fact that there have been no deaths at all there. The men and women are at work and the factory is not closed down as the report said. It is a very great shame that false reports are circulated. The Port Doctor has enough to do without having to investigate the accuracy of reports published in newspapers. Up to the present there have been no authenticated cases of plague.

The Franciscan Sisters at the General Hospital have offered to nurse foreign cases of plague if any occur and Miss Burn of the China Inland Mission has also offered her services to the Lily Douthwaite Hospital for caring for cases which might occur at the East Beach side of Chefoo.

The China Inland Mission Compound had isolated itself. Nearly 300 children are on it, and they are as safe there as anywhere. The Compound is shut in. Servants are not allowed out. Tradesmen must place their goods at the gate. All the exits are barred and locked. At night members of the Boys' School Faculty take turns in patroling the Compound to see that the Chinese do not leave and that no one enters.

At Temple Hill servants are not allowed to go to market unless they have a foreigner with them. While as stated there are no plague cases the fact that these precautions are being taken clearly demonstrates that Chefoo is determined to do its utmost to prevent plague from spreading if it is found.

Chinese officials have ordered the shutting of all theaters, hair net factories, silk filatures, barber shops, tea houses, bath houses and even dispensaries. The regulations thus imposed are not pleasant and they naturally give rise to inconvenience. The knowledge that no cases of plague are in Chefoo makes them appear all the more distasteful.

There is a report about that two more have got away from the "Kishniev" and that in consequence our quarantine is to last longer.

Shensi's Famine Money Unavailable

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, May 16.—Although Shensi's share of the Customs Surplus Loan for famine relief amounts to $400,000 Shensi receiving the same proportion as Shantung—none of this money has yet been drawn in the province, through unanticipated difficulties in transmission. An arrangement has been made with a local bank to transfer one hundred thousand dollars to Sian, but a considerable discount has been charged the relief committee. Ordinarily the discount is the other way. In addition to this discount, the bank demands until May 23 for transmission of the money, which cannot be drawn in Sian until this date or later, when the harvesting of the crop will already have begun, and such food scarcity as may have existed will have passed.

Nothing has yet been heard from Messrs. Watson and Russell, who were to have reached the railhead at Kwanyintang today enroute to Peking to procure the allotted money in bullion.

TRAMS FOR TSINGTAO

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, May 16.—The Chung Mei News Agency's Tsingtao correspondent writes that a Japanese promoter there is organising a limited company with a capital of three million dollars for the construction of a street railway system in that port, to be modeled after the system in Shanghai.
